

The Endangered Pascua River

STOP

SHOPPING AT

THE HOME DEPOT

UNTIL THEY STOP SUPPORTING

THE DESTRUCTION

OF PATAGONIA!

Join the thousands of people around the world who are fighting for a wild Patagonia.

Visit internationalrivers.org/patagonia to find out more and take action!

PATAGONIA'S WILD RIVERS ARE AT RISK!

Did you know that by shopping at The Home Depot today you are supporting the destruction of Patagonia's wild rivers?

THE HOME DEPOT is the largest US buyer of timber products from the Matte Group, which plans to build five mega-dams on two pristine rivers in Patagonia, southern Chile. The dams and their associated transmission lines would ruin rivers, flood rare endangered forests and destroy livelihoods.

The Patagonia dam controversy has gained international notoriety, and The Home Depot has been asked by thousands of people to stop buying timber from suppliers that plan to destroy the rivers and forests of Chile's Patagonia.

THE HOME DEPOT needs to prove that its claim of environmental stewardship isn't merely public relations rhetoric. Let your local Home Depot store know that you won't shop there until they do the right thing and stop buying wood products from Chilean companies who plan to destroy Patagonia!

SAVE PATAGONIA

internationalrivers.org/patagonia

