

Local Action, Global Impact

Holding Governments and Corporations Accountable for Polluting China's Rivers

A Talk by Gansu Province's Most Prominent Grassroots Leader and New Member of Pacific Environment's China Team

Zhao Zhong

The Asia Foundation

Thursday, October 11

6:00 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.

The Asia Foundation

Haydn Williams Room, 8th Floor

465 California Street, San Francisco, CA 94104

(between Montgomery and Sansome, near Montgomery BART station)

Free and open to the public | Refreshments provided

RSVP is not required, but highly encouraged.

Please reply to dzuber@pacificenvironment.org with your name and organization by noon on October 11, 2012, if you plan to attend.

Zhao Zhong is an experienced grassroots leader who now helps Pacific Environment's local partners in China fight water pollution as our new Beijing-based China program coordinator.

Recognized as one of TIME Magazine's Heroes of the Environment in 2009, Zhao Zhong founded Green Camel Bell, the first environmental organization in Gansu province in northwestern China, in 2003. Under his leadership, Green Camel Bell became one of China's most respected and effective water pollution watchdogs, successfully pressuring factories that dump waste and toxins into the Yellow River to clean up their act.